Senate Speeds up Work on Immigration Bill

TOKIO. - (Associated Press)-The American Baptist mission of Japan today adopted a resolution condemning the proposed exclusion of Japanese from the United States as "unnecessary and un Christian."

HONOLULU -- (Associated Press) -Immigration officials amnounce that during the past decade 37,211 Japanese were admitted to Hawaii while 21,036 departed, resulting in an increase of 6,175 to the Jaanese community, exclusive of births, which usually outnumber those of all radical divisions.

WASHINGTON. -- (Associated) Press.) - With night sessions threatened to speed up action on the immigration bill, the senate today tackled the tangled problem of quota percentages and the troublesome provision fixing the 1910 census as the basis of allotments to the various admissible aliens. Proposals to place one, two and three per cent limits on the quotas were pending today and differences among senators over the census basis were complicated by the provision in the measure passed by the house designating the 1890 census figures as the basis for two per cent quotas. An amendment intended to establish a permanent quota basis for the future was adopted yesterday, providing that after July 1, 1927, unless congress directs otherwise in the meantime, the allotments shall be fixed in accordance with an analysis of the national origins of persons comprising the population of the continental United States in

Three Sides to Every Question, Local Men Are Told

"You simply cannot drive men. You've got te lead 'em," said Sherman Rogers, of New York City, the lumber jack orator, before a meeting of the Lima Foremen's club Wednesday night at the Elks' Home. Rogers' subject was "Leaders vs Drivers."

Rogers has faith in men. He be-Heves from 95 to 160 per cent of all men want to play the game fair if given a chance. "If isn't the man that is wrong," Rogers said, "it is the doctrine which has been taught him. He has been made to see only one distorted side to a question, as for instance, the labor problem.

He saw but the one side of the lobar question, that being "the poor, down-trodden working man." "Remember this: There are three sides to every question-your side, the other fellow's side, and the right side," said Rogers.

"The trouble with capital has been that it has not seen labor's side of the question, and vice versa. But things are changing. Each fac-tion is gradually seeing the other's

"Another thing. If you haven't the capacity to lead men, stop trying to be a leader. If you don't, you'll be one of the sorriest failures you've ever seen.

"Men resent being driven," Rogers said, "but they will be led. Once my little son took a sheet of paper on which I was writing, and when I sharply asked him to return it to me he replied in the negative. So I spanked him. KANATAK, Portage Bay, Alaska -(Associated Press) - Major Frederick L. As a result of the accident, the globe flight will be delayed about one week. The other three cruisers, the Boston, Chicago and New Orleans, were anchored safely today at Chignik. They arrived Tuesday under the temporary leadership of Lieutenant Erick H. Nelson.

A crack in the crank case of the cruiser Seattle, causing a leakage of fuel, forced Major Martin to land at Cape Igvak. He and Harvey spent the night in their plane. The destroyers arrived at the scene early yesterday and the Hull took Major Martin and his Licchanician aboard, together with the air cruiser and brought them to Kanatak.

Word was sent to the United States coast guard cutter Haida, stationed at Unalaska, on the island of the same name, in the Aleutian Islands group where supplies for the planes are located, to rush a new engine to Portage Bay. The Haula was scheduled to leave Unalarka to-

ATTEND FIRST COOKING TESTS

Ten Minutes of Gas Took Place of 40-Second Test Today

Cooking with the gas turned off was a startling surprise yesterday to the large number of women who attended the first cooking test in the scheduled series of four being made by the Hoover-Bond Co., by R. C. Johnson at the Hoover-Bond Store.

They saw two pounds of string beans cooked for 40 minutes in the modern Chambers Fireless Gas Range, although the gas was burned only 10 minutes. They were cooked under the so-called "Thermodome," which accumulates the heat ordinarily wasted, and then retains it to keep it working on for great lengths of time. After the gas was turned off, no further attention was paid to the cooking until a half hour later, when the string beans were taken out, completely and perfectly cooked. To the housewife tied down to her kitchen by antiquated cooking methods, to the husband who knows that his wife has little opportunity for so-cial or other pastimes—to everyone, these tests promise to hold the ut-most interest. A roast, fowl, vegetables, bread ake, anything that is roasted, baked, broiled or stewed, may be put on this range and cooked with less than half the gas used on the ordinary range, at the same time requiring only a few minutes of attention. The re-maining time which otherwise would be spent in the kitchen is freed from the rest, recreation or other work.

The second test this afternoonbaking a ten pound ham four hours with only 45 minutes of gas burning -will be followed by the third one tomorrow and final one the next day.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

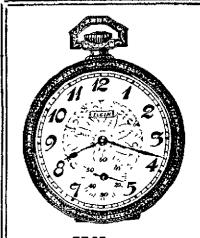

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effec-tively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

NATION OFFERED FOR SALE

Sagan Would be Placed on Augtion Block

INHABITED BY 65,000 PEOPLE

Proposition is Made by Husband of Anna Gould

PARIS - (United Press) -- An entire nation with 65,000 people, a river "full of excellent fish," a history that goes back to the days of Wallenstein, castles, forests and royal chateaux, was offered for the auction block here today.

It is the little principality Sagan, situated between Silesia and Brandenburg, and covering about 500 miles of territory, rich in historic German legends.

The offer is made by the Duke of Talleyrand De Perigord, husband of Anna Gould, "serene highness" of the independent principality. The only qualifications are that the duke retain the title of "serene highness of Sagan" and that the price shall be fixed by the duke's minister of finance. COUNTRY DESCRIBED The duke, in making public his astounding offer today, described his country with all the matter of fact frankness of an auctioneer's catalog. Sagan, he said, is a "complete in dependent principality, situated between Silesia and Brandenburg, area about 500 square miles, 65,000 inhabitants, capital city of 15,000. Gothic church, complete city hali with recreation salons, bronze statue of Frederick III, the river Bober with plenty of fish and evers fields, forest, etc. The tilte of Sagan, the duke explained, actually is held by his 15year-old son, Charles, to whom the duke gave the country as a birthday present. The principality has existed since 1649, when the king of Bohemia gave it to his great leader Wallenstein and has been in the Talleyrand family since 1845.

Both the French and German governments must consent to the sale, but the duke declares this is a "mere formality" as the Talleyrand family is sole owner of the do-

"All I ask," the duke said, in an interview, "is that I be allowed to retain my title of serene highness of Sagan' and that my minister of finance be taken into consultation as to the price."

TAMPERING WITH THE CLOCKS

The time of year has rolled around again when those who take a delight in meddling are starting their agitation for further tampering with the clocks. This time the matter is a little wider than heretofore and it is proposed that the eastern time zone be extended to take in Lima and other cities on or about the same line from north to south or even to the state line on the west.

The subject was presented to the Board of Commerce of this city and failed to arouse any particular enthusiasm. That organization replied to those sponsoring the project that the local body would be opposed to the plan unless the time zone be extended to the Indiana state line.

Lima has expressed itself in no uncertain terms on the matter of changing the clocks every spring and fall. The daylight saving proposal was snowed under here more than a year ago by a heavy majority. It was so one-sided that even the most optimistic supporter of the daylight saving plan could get no encouragement out of the edict of the voters.

The News is unalterably opposed to daylight saving unless it is made state-wide and then we can see little or no good in it. When we had "fast" time here during the summer months it served only to muddle up affairs and disgust a majority of the rural dwellers who come here to trade as well as Lima folks. It was all right during the war when the plan was nation-wide, but it has been a fizzle every time it was tried locally since it was applied to speed up everything in general to help win the war.

Time as it is applied is a matter of habit. It is accepted that a certain shop or factory begins work for the day at 7 a, m, and closes at 4 p. m. Another shop may begin half an hour earlier or later with a corresponding closing time. While we do not believe either employers or employes in Lima are in favor of any change in time matters, it would be a small matter for individual organizations to change their habits of opening and closing to meet the desires of those in charge and affected. Thus, if one plant wanted conditions as they would obtain under daylight saving, why not let it alter its hours to bring about the change desired? All this could be done without tampering with the clocks and generally moddling up the community.

So far as the extension of the eastern time zone to the Indiana line is concerned, we can see no need for the change. This section is too far west to be included the year around in the eastern time belt. If we were to be taken into it and did not change our habits of beginning and closing work, we would have the same disadvantages during the summer we had under daylight saving and an annoyance in the winter entirely out of proportion to the total benefit derived.

We believe the people of this vicinity are satisfied with time premises. It may be that overinstandards as they now exist. We believe they would be opposed to dulgence in food, particularly imbeing included in the eastern time zone and we recommend that they enter vigorous protest should further steps in this direction be taken by the meddlers.

0 0 0 0 MORTGAGE THE FUTURE

Cities have embarked on another big spending jag. More founderweight and free to gain municipal bonds issues were authorized and sold during March than in any March since 1915. The total was over 88 million dollars.

Municipalities in our country are mortgaging the future, by or how many hours you sleep nights, it is made, for fermentation destroys new bonds, at the rate of more than a billion dollars a year. ### ONE KIND OF LABOR

It's as difficult to stay at the top as it is to get there. The REAL hard work doesn't begin until a man establishes a high record that he is expected to live up to.

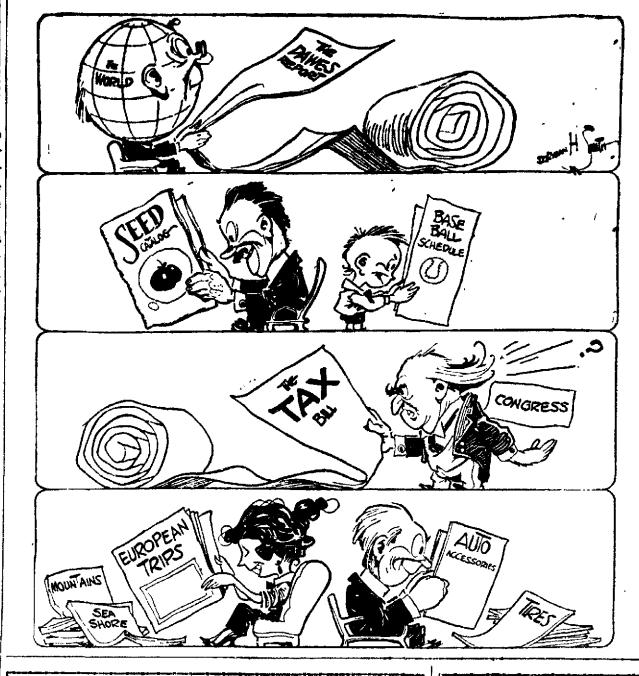

Arnold Bennett, the writer, in a year has turned out 335,000 on case, late hours and insufficient words—including 224 short storics, a novel, two serials and a book of plays. This is only a thousand words a day, to be true. but it's high-class matter. Writing real stuff is more exhausting tion in children an important factor than hard physical labor-in the long run. And it's as much a is the bad habit of staying up late business as selling sausages or hardware.

Read Mt. 26:17-35. Text: 26:26 27. And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it; and he gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat: this is my body. And he took a cup, and gave thanks, and gave to them, saying, Drink ye all of it, for this is my blood.

"Jesus knew that the effect of his death would be to bring men and God together in a relationship infinitely close and amount. The heart of the world would break in pentience before the cross, sin would be forgiven and character purified."

MEDITATION: In this last meeting with his disciples Jesus desired to bind the hearts of his intimate friends to him forever. Jesus realized that his own strength was continually renewed thru communion with his Father God, and in the felus strength to do thy will. May we May every part of our being be fruitful in love to thee and service to our brethren. Keep the fires of our souls burning and may our love abide, thru Christ, Amen.

CHAPTER I

Mary Furnival was knitting khaki socks. Mary Furnival was unitting masks seems.

The September sunshine, piercing the lace curtains, shone on her quiet and the flying needles in her white fingers.

From her curied-up position in a councer of the couch, Dolly Bretheron watched her with concealed impatience.

Dolly could not have knitted socks had her life depended on it; she made one or two attempts, and had given it up in despair.

The stitches would drop from between her protty, useless-looking agers, and the wool get entangled; but the envied Mary Furnival's quiet apability as she sat there in the afternoon sunshine, placify adding row ipon row of the buff-colored wool. In the middle of turning a heel, she looked up, and met Dolly's eyes

Well?" she queried. Dolly frowned.

"I suppose you think that I ought to be making socks, too?" she sublitted, half-resentfully.

Mary Furnival laughed, a laugh that ended with a sigh. "I wasn't think anything of the sort; I was just wondering if—if Nigel will ever come back."

The words seemed to escape before she realized their import; she troke off hurriedly, and, leaning over, caught Dolly's hand. "Oh, I am so sorry, dear! I ought not to have said that. Of course e will come back."

There was a little silence. Dolly had flushed up to the roots of her hair; her left hand—the one that bore Nigel Bretherton's wedding ring, opened and shut convulsively over the folds of her frock. The half-finished sock had fallen from Mary's lap to the floor; Dolly goked down at it, and a little shiver shook her.

Nigel had been one of the first to answer his country's call, and since hen everyone had been so good to her. They had all taken it for grantd that she must be heart-broken at parting with him; they had all been

That had been the hardest part of it all—the having to pretend, to remaily act, and keep them all blind to the horrible truth that Nigel had yards of 32 inch material. It had been a mistaken marriage, for which she now knew she alone as been to blame.

CHAPTER II Dolly's Love Story

Looking back to that April morning eighteen months ago, it all med such a foolish, stupid blunder. She had hated her life of nursery governess to a couple of spoilt, unanageable children; she had hated heir mother, a haughty, unsympa-hetic, nouveau riche; and, most of I she had hated the unkind freak f fortune that had made Robert irham a poor man. All her life had lived amongst poverty-the enteel, hard-to-bear kind of poverwhich struggles so hard to keep n appearance—and her soul shrank rom perpetuating it by marriage

And then one golden April eveg, Nigel Bretherton had opened schoolroom door and walked inher life. She could recall it all so plainly.

tion after that, and, by the time she had found out that he was a vell-to-do younger son with prospects, he had proposed. They were married in less than a month; he explained that there was

"I haven't any people except a brother who's been living in South Africa for a couple of years, and probably will never come back. So they married in haste, and came back from a honeymoon of dis- tube for 60 cents. histonment and petty disagreements, with all the remainder of their lives which to repent at leisure.

Dolly had discovered many things during that brief honeymoon, the important of which was the fact that she would never care for any a half so well as she had cared for Robert Durham; the next in imoffence being that her husband was perfectly conscious of the fact that a had married a woman beneath his own station in life-The Brethertons of Little Helpton were "somebodies," even though he old mansion which had been theirs for centuries had been let for some cars, a fact which Dolly resented.

But he only laughed. "The old place belongs to David." he said. "I suppose I shall get it a the end, but you'll have to waft."

He took a charming flat for her in Kenningston, but Dolly could not forget the pictures she had seen of the Red Grange.

"Why is it let?" she insisted irritably. "Why don't you live there?" Nigel frowned. "It's David's, as long as he's alive; I told you that; and when he was deted ahroad for his health, he thought it best to let the old place. I shouldn't have lived there alone. I should have gone melancholy mad." "We could entertain, if he would let us live there." Nigel flushed. "The fact is," he said desperately, "David doesn't know I'm married.

I hawn't told him-he's such a peculiar chap. Her eyes flamed.

"You mean that you're ashamed to tell him that you married a girl who was only a governess?" she cried.

All these thoughts passed with lightning rapidity through Dolly

Bretherton's head as she sat curled up in the corners of the big couch, vatching Mary Furnival. It hardly took her a moment to traverse the many weeks since that Sunny April morning when Nigel had opened the schoolroom door and "siked into her life, down to the present month when all the world was and so perfunctorily—that he would have gone just the same, whatever she said. The war fever had got into his very bones. And so, of course, he had gone. There had been a few days' rush and "Mit ment, during which she had been vaguely proud of having a man in uniform to walk about with, and then the farewell. Dolly got up dutifully at five o'clock one gray morning and saw him arch away with his regiment; she stood in the chilly street long after In- Lamp of feet had died away before she went back to the flat, where Mars Furnival was waiting for her-ashamed, because she knew that in he neart was a strange feeling of relief. Life was to go on as usual; Nigel's bankers paid her a generous almance every month; she was to keep on the flat, and have Mary to live

Nigel had known Mary Furnival long before he ever met his wife. She was one of those quiet, wonderful people who are never missed or realized until they are taken away.

He had asked her-in his selfish man's way-to be a friend to the and he was about to marry. He had never seen the sudden look of shock hat crossed her quiet face, or the blanching of her hips before she forced

"Why, of course I will," she had said, and she had kept her word. She had given up the two unpretentions little rooms which were her home, and moved into Dolly's smart flat, where the sight of Nigel's possessions lying about wrung her heart every day. CHAPTER III "Glad to Go"

Mary Furnival's gentle voice broke the silence of the sumy room

'He will come back, Dolly dear-please God he will come back safe-

Dolly flung aside the caressing band, and rose to her feet. You all seem determined that I shall go on pretending," she said harshly. "Sometimes I feel as if I-must scream when people ask after Nicel, and pretend to he sorry for me. Why, you must know, if nobody the does, that we were tired of each other almost as soon as we were larged. Parried. Oh, I know I ought not to say these things," she burst out, as a little cry, "but I shall die if I can't say them to somebody. I feel such a humbug—such an absolute humbug!"

She came back to where Mary was sitting and dropped on her knees by the elder girl, hiding her hot face in her lap.

i. In unusual feature of the opening of both Major leagues, is the superb form of pitchers and players alike. The game at Cintinnati Wednesday was played in mid-season form, as was the contest between Detroit and Cleveland. It would seem that Detroit has gotten a mighty good pitcher in Earl Whitehill, recruit lefthander, who outpitched the veteran Coveleskie, altho he lacked control, hitting four batsmen. Another recruit that showed up well, was Jack Bentley, of the Giants, who comes from Baltimore. He held the Robins to four hits and struck out eight men. ## WILLS WILL PROBABLY PLAY LENGLEN

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK-(United Press)-Another of California's fairest daughers, a dashing 18 year-old miss, stands ready now for elevation to the throne as the international queen of tennis

Golden haired Helen Willis, the idol and the proud boast of all America, is the recognized champion of the United States, and if she wins the British championship at Wimbledon next June, she will be the legitimate

There is no official title as the world's championship tennis player, but there can be no dispute for a claim to the title made by the winner of the British and the American championships. Just beginning to reach the best part of her game, the California girl has an even chance to win the British title against the best competition in the world. If Mile, Suzanne Lenglen, the reigning queen of the court, Durbin and Braden seem destined does not defend here title, "little Helen" is a cinch to win

She may have other reasons for not wanting to try her game against

It is unfair to the California girl to say that she will win if Mile. Lenglen does not play, because the interference would go along with it that she could not have won the championship if the real chmapion had been there to play her.

Miss Wills is going to England to play for the United States in the Plum At Bowie Wightman Cup matches, in the British championships and at the Olympic It is quite certain that she loves her country as deeply and as passionately as Mile, Lenglen loves France The American girl believes that she can get on her best same by playing thru the most strengous preliminary competition in strange lands and under unfamiliar conditions The French girl believes that she would hurt her game by playing thru one tournament at V imbledon on a court that ought to be as familiar to ber as the path to the door of her home.

America would be delighted to the heart if her "Little Helen" should ome back from Europe as the British and the Olympic tennis champion Since the days of 1905 and 1907, when the 18-year-old California darling, May Sutton, wen the British championship there has been no girl who has worked herself so close to the heart of the American rublic as has Helen Wills.

She represents what statesmen, diplomats and educators like to hold up as the national girl, a type of girl that can be paraded any place in the world and he pointed to with pride by Americans as "our girl."

Altho marked by slight irregularity, stock prices mainly tended up-Bards at the opening of today's market. Low and medium priced rail shares were in demand at higher figures. Mixed movements prevaled in the motor list, Willys-Overland preferred gaining 1 1-8 and Studebaker losing ground.

Short covering, based on publication of increased earnings by inde-pendent steel companies and other favorable trade reports, supplied most of the buying power and brought about factional advances in leading industriels. American Can. Baidwin, General Electric, U. S. Rubber and National Lead all moved ahead. Motor shares also improved in tone, with the exception of Yellow an and Studebaker. An increase in American Waterworks participating preferred dividend stimulated activiv in the common stock, which advinced 1 3-8. VOLUME OF BUYING

Changes in Corn Are Slight: Oats Hold Firm

CHICAGO - (Associated Press) -Wheat prices tended upward today in the carly dealings, traders showing considerable disposition to avoid the selling side until it is determined whether the McNary-Haughen measure will become a law. According to one authority if the bill were enacted, an attempt likely will be made to establish $1,25 and posaibly 1.50 a bushel as the ratio price on wheat. Commission house buying was of fair volume. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 1-8 to 1-4c higher May $1.028-8 to 1.021-2 and July 1.041-4 to 1.042-8, was followed by a little advance all around. Corn was easy in the absence of any aggressive new demand. After opening at 1-2c lower to a shade advance, May 78 1-4 to 78 3-8, the market steadied at about the same as yesterday's finish.

Oats were firmer, sympathizing with wheat rather than corn. Initial prices on oats, unchanged 1-8 to 1-4c higher, May 47 3-8 to 47 1-2c, were later well maintained. Provisions eased down a trifle in response to lower quotations on hogs.

This little dollar goes to market

EVERY year every family of your acquaintance spends about 70 per cent of its income just for living, exclusive of rent-so economic experts tell us. Think what this means—seven dollars out of every ten invested in food, clothing, household utilities and all the multitude of things that keep a family comfortable and happy.

It's a big job to spend so much money wisely and well. It requires careful business methods to get the best possible returns from each dollar that leaves the family purse.

Flatulence Gases

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia has been prescribed for over 50 years by physicians as a harmless laxative and antacid in whatever condition is attended with acidity of the stomach and intestines, with heartburn, sour cructations, sick headache and flatulence; and in other complaints attended with sour stomach, biliousness and constitution. Millions have found this to be the ideal corrective in these disorders, because it is harmless, almost tasteless, mild in operation and never causes nausea, griping or the slightest inconvenience.
